

Fraudulent Job Offers Alert

Attention: NLB Services Job Aspirants & Applicants

It has come to our notice that some candidates are being approached through the inappropriate and incorrect representation of NLB and its clients. Fake job offers are being made whereby candidates are being asked to transfer money into individual accounts in lieu of the offer. This is an instance of identity theft and 'reputation damage.' We would like to furthermore state that NLB Services does not adopt or endorse such means of recruitment. Any job offers made in the name of NLB Services on the condition of the candidate making a payment through any form should be construed as 'Fake Offers'.

NLB Services will not be liable for any kind of loss incurred or damage suffered as a result of individuals dealing with such fraud entities.

At NLB Services we take pride in our candidate journey and protect to uphold the reputation of our clients at all times. We abide by the highest ethical standards of conducting business at all times and have a zero-tolerance policy on the malpractice of any kind.

Our hiring process is completely driven by the merit of the candidate and in accordance with our internal policies.

We urge all candidates who may receive such offers to treat such individuals/agencies as frauds and report the same. You can write to us at fraudalerts@nlbtech.com or contact the local law enforcement authorities.

Follow these precautions and stay safe –

- ✓ If the email/Offer Letter originates from a public or free domain and not from the authorized nlbtech.com/nlbtech.com/nlbtech.in domain, it is fake
- ✓ We do not ask prospective job applicants to deposit cash in any form in any bank accounts
- ✓ We never issue offer letters on WhatsApp or any social networking sites
- ✓ We do not ask for money in exchange for guaranteed employment, there is no charge for any training purposes
- ✓ If the contact person asks for personal details such as bank account, credit card number, etc., do not trust and share the detail
- ✓ If the email/Offer Letter contains several grammatical errors in the text. This would usually not happen in an email from a legitimate company